Side Quest records your volunteer hours and lets an organization add a reference to your profile. How much does that matter to you?

What almost made you close the app during sign up or while browsing quests?

| Ambiguity while selecting options about myself. Example: not sure how many can i select for each question. For some questions, i couldn't select even one unless i removed an options from the previous question. The interface is smooth, the color palet could change perhaps? Looks too busy right now. | 1 |
| Nothing really made me want to close the app. The sign-up and browsing experience was smooth for me, and I was interested in exploring the quests. | 1 |
| I got an error while selecting the last quest, which said "Up to 5. Remove one to add another", but I had already chosen 9. Why there is a restriction? | 1 |
| It didn't make me feel to close the app. | 1 |
| Nothing made me close, felt too many questions. I was curious to see the outcome | 1 |
| Nothing such made me close the app | 1 |

| 1. Allow the option to add a quest to the calendar once booked? Not sure if you guys already have it. 2. Maybe the option to follow and add your friends or others and see where they are volunteering? (If they are comfortable sharing that with others) | 1 |
| I'm still exploring the app, so I'd like to spend more time using it before suggesting anything specific. I'll have a better idea once I've explored all the features and quests. | 1 |
| I am spending some time to select my personal interest in side quest. After signing up, it shows me the volunteering opportunities. And while trying to select the organization and activity, it redirects to their organization page. This is okay. But for a first time user, I had to re sign up again with all my details in their page as well, can it not be pre-filled or passed as some default values based on the details provided in side quest? It's repetitive to answer those again. | 1 |
